

THE MOVEMENTS OF MOVEMENTS

A CONVERSATION WITH MATT MEYER AND JAI SEN, HOSTED BY ALEX PAPALI

Our world today is not only a world in crisis but also a world in profound movement, with increasingly large numbers of people joining or forming movements: local, national, transnational, and global. The dazzling diversity of ideas and experiences recorded in this two-volume collection capture something of the fluidity within campaigns for a more equitable planet...

The collections offer a wide range of essays from frontline activists in the Global South, as well as from Europe and North America that address the question, "What do we need to do in order to bring about justice and peace?" The Movements of Movements aims to make the bewildering range of contemporary movements more meaningful to the observer and also to be a space where global movements speak to each other.

Matt Meyer is a Brooklyn-based educator-activist, author most recently of White Lives Matter Most (And Other "Little" White Lies), Foreword by Sonia Sanchez, and co-editor with déqui kionisadiki of Look for Me in the Whirlwind: From the Panther 21 to 21st Century Revolutions, Foreword by Jamil Al-Amin (formerly H Rap Brown), Afterword by Mumia Abu-Jamal; and co-author of the acclaimed Guns and Gandhi in Africa: Pan African Insights on Nonviolence, Armed Struggle, and Liberation. He serves as co-convener of the War Resisters International Africa Working Group, co-chair of the Fellowship of Reconciliation in the US, and UN NGO representative of the International Peace Research Association.

Jai Sen is an activist/researcher/author in and on movement. Earlier an organiser in social movement living in Calcutta (now Kolkata), then a researcher into popular movement for a place to live, for the past decade and more he has worked to promote critical engagement with the World Social Forum and emerging world movement. His books include - with Anita Anand, Arturo Escobar, and the late Peter Waterman, World Social Forum: Challenging Empires, and with the late Peter Waterman, World Social Forum: Critical Explorations (OpenWord, 2012). He helped found and remains associated with CACIM and with OpenWord. He now lives both in New Delhi, India, and in Ottawa, on unceded Anishinaabe territory in Canada / on Turtle Island.
